Dedication

Strength, growth in spite of difficulties, might, power—such are the qualities that the sturdy oak inspires. Such, also, are the qualities that determine the progress of individual or institution. To such qualities as revealed in all the friends of Pikeville College, far and near, we dedicate this Highlander of nineteen hundred and thirty.

ADMINISTRATION

Reproduction of the First Building of Pikeville College

Forty-two years ago a trip was made by horseback up the Sandy valley by representatives of the Ebenezer Presbytery of Eastern Kentucky, to select a location for a school for the higher education of youth in this region. As a result, Pikeville Collegiate Institute was founded in 1889, at a cost of $7,000.

The first college building was the one shown above, consisting of two large rooms. The first year was largely one of organization. In the second year the school was formed into classes and departments, there being twelve in the Sophomore class, sixteen in the Freshman* class, and the remainder of the one hundred thirty-five then enrolled, in the grades. Dr. David Blyth, the first principal, taught half time and was assisted by two teachers.

In the forty years following, the growth of the school has been consistent and rapid. Hendrick Hall was soon built as a "boarding hall for the teachers and lady students." A much needed wing was added to the original building, the whole then thought to be adequate for all future need.

The school now has its charter as an incorporated college. Both its Academy and Junior College departments have an A class accrediting. The value of the plant is estimated at approximately $600,000 exclusive of endowment. The faculty has twenty-two members in its roster. In addition to the buildings shown in the preceding pages, there is a building for graded school work and a gymnasium. The college department alone has one hundred and one on its roll, while the academy adds over a hundred more to that number.

Surely the wisdom of the founders of the institution has been justified.

"In facile natures fancies quickly grow,
But such quick fancies have but little root.
Soon the narcissus flowers and dies, but slow
The tree whose blossoms shall mature to fruit.
Grace is a moment's happy feeling, Power
A life's slow growth; and we for many an hour
Must strain and toil, and wait and weep, if we
The perfect fruit of all we are would see."

DREAMS - REALIZATION

Scene I

Commencement Day 1930

It is with a peculiar mixture of gladness and sadness that we contemplate this day of days, when, after all the good times we have had together and all the things we have done as a group, we must part and go out into the world.

The dim grayness of the future lies ahead, what we shall do and what we shall become—the hopes to be realized and the hopes to be destroyed. The spectre of the past lies behind, the things we might have done and the things we did. They all are lost, for today we enter into the mystic realm of tomorrow.

One by one the students leave with their diplomas and then at last the long corridors are forlorn and empty, deserted by the old, and ready for the new who come to partake of the traditions of age old Pikeville College.

Scene II

Reunion—Fifteen years later

The hall is all adorned with the lights of a banquet and one by one the members of the class of 1930 enter and take their places. Age has been kind to them, but gone is the fleeting phantasy of youth from their faces and in its place is the firm note of real manhood and womanhood. All but one of the chairs is filled as the former class president rises. Eyes fleet to the empty chair. Who would dare to be absent from this first reunion of the class? None can tell. Eagerly they turn to the president, Hon. Donald Hales, prominent public servant, and at present the Junior Senator from Arkansas.

Rapidly he runs over the list and introduces the people whom the years have changed only in person, leaving the hearts the same as ever:

Mrs. J. M. Morgan, formerly Miss Jennie Caudill, now wife of the great oil king.

Miss Josephine Ratliff, instructor in Domestic Science at Record Teachers' College, Pikeville University.

General Orell Fields, U. S. A., commanding the division of chemical warfare.

Miss Elsie Trivette, noted mission worker of Congo.

Mrs. John Georges, formerly Miss Ila Scott, wife of the president of Pikeville University.

Dr. William V. Looney, "Dick," staff surgeon of Elkhorn City Memorial hospital.

Dr. James Andrew Layne, Professor of Surgery, School of Medicine at John Hopkins University.

Miss Mary Hoskins, Dean of Women at Record Teachers' College.

Dr. Art Casebolt, noted surgeon of Pikeville, professor of anatomy, College of Science, Pikeville University.

Robert Marion Corbin, editor of the New York Transcript.

Jessie I. Horne, Latin instructor at Georgetown College.

Mr. John Stephens, well known Dean of Eastern Kentucky State Normal.

Prof. Walter E. Trivette, of the teaching staff of the famous Virgie Academy; Eary E. Adkins, also a member of the Virgie Academy faculty.

Miss Helen Stratton, instructor in Social Economics at the School of Social Service, Pikeville University.

Dr. Godfrey Wheeler, of the Adams Memorial Hospital of Baileysville, W. Va.

Mr. Grat Adams, philanthropist and steel czar.

Miss Gertrude Evans, staff writer for the American Magazine.

Florence Cameron, piano concertist with the United Lyceum Bureau.

Eugene King, famous research chemist.

Miss Lounette Russell, secretary to the Governor of Kentucky.

Miss Dora Webb, superintendent of schools of Pike county.

Miss Isabel Murrill, authoress of distinction.

Miss Besse Kilgore, instructor in English at the Indian Ceylon Mission School of Bengal.

Miss Elmo Childers, professor of German at the Craig School of Languages, Pikeville University.

Miss Mary I. Spilman, Ph.D., D.Sc., our former sponsor, Professor of Natural Science, McClelland College of Arts and Science, Pikeville University.

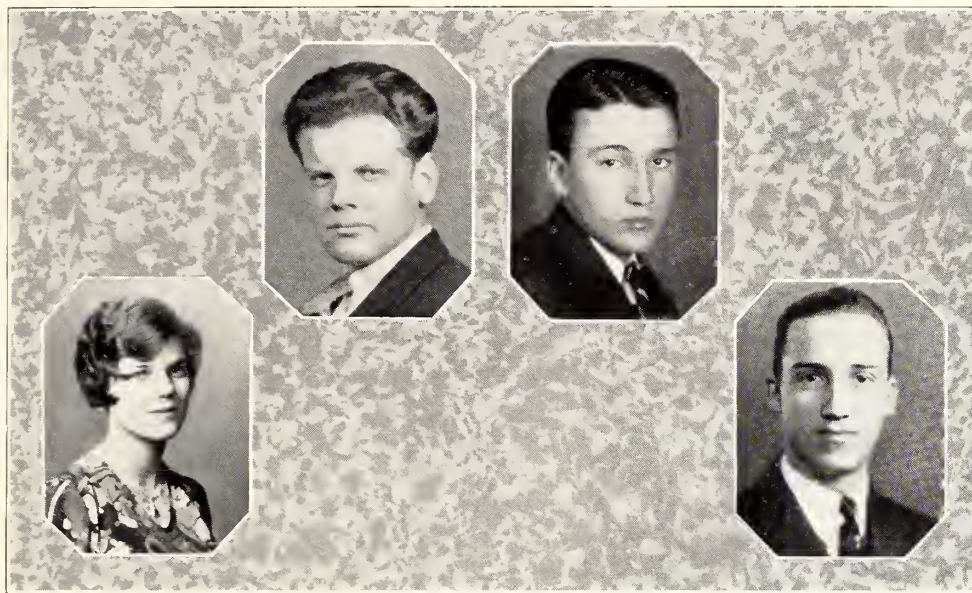

Some terrible commotion arises from the exterior and two attendants struggle in lugging a disreputable figure between them. They state he was found trying to gain an entrance to the hall unseen. Gen. Fields walks over to the forlorn man.

"My, it's Bob Updegraff, and he's just a bum."

It is the old class bum. A grin spreads over his face as he sees they recognize him. A shout goes up. The whole gang has come back and the class remark, "The world calls him a bum because he's poor; if he had money they'd call him a globe trotter."

Curtain

"And the song has been ended and the story has been told."

THE FRESHIES' ASCENT

In the Freshman class of 1930 are centered the hopes and—fears of the higher classes of the years to come. This semester the class has the largest enrollment in the history of the college. A "big" class with "big" and lofty ideals.

As this hectic term closes, we survey from the peak of success the many trials and tribulations that we have encountered and overcome in attaining our present status. From the plateaus of leisure we began the climb when we hit the foothills of "enrollment" and "getting accustomed."

Then the powerful lords who were called the Sophs persecuted and ridiculed us, continually forcing us to do their every bidding. After we had miraculously fled from their captivity, we began our steady upward trend. Now and then we called a halt and recuperated from the tediousness of the journey by short terms of fun and a meal or two eaten at little hiker's inns, called Zeta Sigma Phi, Les Portes, Flambeaux H. A. C., and German Club House. Such refreshment was always a source of pleasure after weeks of weary climbing.

Soon we came upon a large animal which our guide told us was called "mid semester exams." With much vim and vigor we attacked this ferocious animal and fought a hard battle with him. A few of our number received severe scratches and wounds during this fray. Although aching terribly from these wounds our band struggled on. Our caps became frost-bitten and died. These we cremated on a lofty crag known as "tennis court." Nine months after our start we arrived on the top, and from this point we survey the trail of the Freshman class.

Below is a list of the highlights of the climb.

CLASS HISTORY

The year '26 found about forty five "bright" green Freshmen gathered here at our dear old Pikeville College to gain knowledge of the bigger and better things of life. Seeing our need of officers we elected Frank Auxier as president; Nina Mae Parker, secretary; Carlie Gearhart, vice-president; Clarence Crawford, treasurer; Howard Nolan, reporter and Miss Landrum as class sponsor. At the close of school we gave the Sophs a picnic that they still remember.

In looking at our Sophomore days when Carl Cochran was president; Mary Louise, secretary; Clarica, reported and Mr. Hudson, Class teacher, it seems that nothing of memorable importance occurred until our Class day exercises at Junior High.

In '28 we entered the stately portals of Senior High. We traveled up "north" and usually came back "south." In that year we elected Hugh to the presidents' chair; Blanche, vice-president; Maxie, secretary and treasurer; Clarica, reporter and Miss Cameron class teacher. We, as the Juniors usually do, sponsored the Lyceum Course. The best number, of course, was the Junior play, "Hulda of Holland," the responsibility of which rested on the shoulders of Miss Cameron. Another important feature of our Junior year was the wonderful (?) Junior-Senior banquet where we all received a generous helping of "prestige." We felt much honored in being able to entertain such a dignified Class, as a grand finale to our Junior year.

In September of 1929, we again ascended the lofty peak and after the newness of being Seniors wore off, we elected as leaders: Frank Bell Auxier, president; Mary Hager Reynolds, vice-president; Maxie Smith, secretary and treasurer; Ruth Locke, reporter and Miss Owens as our advisor. After planning several picnics we settled down to study and "elocute" through the first semester.

At the beginning of the second semester we all rushed to the photographers and had our bright, intelligent faces reproduced to adorn the Annual. To pay for this we "honored" the school with a jitney supper.

This, as it should have been, has proved to be our most active year, as we were entertained by the Juniors, Dr. Record, the Alumni and others.

Then Class night, and the day of all days, Commencement! The Juniors, earlier in the year, had consented to demonstrate how Seniors should act at graduation exercises, yet we felt a bit shaky when put through the test. Still we feel repaid for all the shocks and are more than anxious to start doing our Alma Mater "proud."

SENIOR CLASS WILL

Commencement Day arrives. The Senior Class of 1930 feel that they cannot leave P. C. A. without giving something to the school, faculty, student body and especially the Juniors. Hence they make the following bequests:

Blanche Reynolds is quite willing to give a "pound of flesh" to Doris Penix;

Virgil Gray gives all his love to Virginia Walters;

Mary Hager Reynolds wills her subscription to the "True Story" Magazine to Rose Farmer;

Genevieve Cline desires to give her Geometry book and all papers concerning Geometry to Pikeville College Library;

Victor Ratliff gives Gene Thomas a book on "How to Win a Girl's Heart;"

Nina Mae Parker wills her seat in the Glee Club to Jane Evans;

James Coleman gives Billy Burke his title as a "heart smasher;"

Clarica Williams donates her old books to Ruth Repass;

Scott Osborn bequeaths his knowledge of dogs to Jesse Dotson;

Charline Coleman donates her methods of wonderful salesmanship to Sara Belle Karsner;

Ruth Locke wills her artistic ability to Rebekah Amick;

Lillian Fairchilds gives Virginia Murrill a box of make-up with instructions how to use it;

Mary Louise Claypool wills Jetta Lee Huffman a right to Joe Amick;

SENIOR CLASS POEM

We're on our way
From school, we say,
To life's work just ahead;
Let love or strife
Come as a knife
We're ready to meet them, "by ned."

Our last year here
Brings forth a tear;
Admit it or not, it's true.
And the good friends made,
Have good friends stayed,
Who'll always remember you.

We've not studied in vain
Or been torn in twain
By commands of our teachers so wise;
But we've gained in books
What we couldn't in looks,
Which is better by far, we surmise.

So teachers and friends,
Let us make amends
For faux pas that we surely have made;
We've done our best,
You may have guessed,
During the years that we've stayed.

—Ruth Locke

Introducing the Junior Preparatory Class Of Pikeville College Academy

Class Aria

to the tune of
"One Little, Two Little, Three Little Indians"
(with the aid of poetic license)

On these next pages you will see
A class aspiring soon to be
As learned Seniors as shall be
Ere found in Pikeville College.

We'd like to introduce our train
Aspiring to the hall of fame,
And to present each one by name—
Juniors of Pikeville College.

Fannie Mae Howell, wise and sedate,
Virginia Walters, gay of late,
And Clarence Damron, with curly
pate,
All found in Pikeville College.

Miss Houseworth, sponsor, good and kind,
Next, Homer Martin of improved
mind,
And Faye Vanover, to men not blind
Since here in Pikeville College.

Here's laughing Bessie Belcher, too,
And Becky Amick, staunch and true,
Also Jane Evans bows to you
Who boost for Pikeville College.

Now Maurice Trivette, of healthy
mind,
And Glima Hughes, to work inclined,
And Chester Smith, an athlete fine,
They're all strong for the College.

Here's Doris Penix and Jessie Burke
And Virginia Murrill, who do not shirk,
And also John Williamson, to work
So hard in Pikeville College.

Cornia Osborne, a pedagogue,
Sarah Anna Hambley, forever agog,
And Herbert Ellison, all do jog
Along in Pikeville College.

Sara Belle Karsner is quite new,
This is Bill Williams' first year, too,
The same of Gypsie Childers' true;
We're glad they're here in College.

Joe Stone is not yet grown and staid,
Jetta Lee Huffman climbs the grade,
Rose Farmer's a captivating maid
Arrived in Pikeville College.

Now Myrtle Kelley and Ruth Repass
Are loyal members of our class;
And Jack Canella, e'er with a lass
He's found in Pikeville College.

Here's Billie Burke—A lady's fate,
An' Alonzo Taylor, tall and straight,
With Clemons Brackette, almost his mate—
Some Junior men in College.

Billy Hambley and Jesse Dotson, all
Have sections in this Junior hall,
And Gene Thomas comes to the call
Of the Junior roll in College.

Fred Blevins and Bill Scott, two more,
And Dorsey Robinson, end our store,
Our tuneful lay we now give o'er
With, "Here's to Pikeville College."

THE JUNIORS' VIEW OF THE PAST

The year of 1927 saw the best all-round class enrolled that was ever known in the history of P. C. That class was the Junior class you hear so much about. Our fame has spread rapidly, you know. All the teachers at Junior High just adored us. We had talent, they said. We had beauty! We excelled in athletics! All wondered at our learning ability. We were always on the Honor Roll for our excellence in scholarship.

With such wonderful success our Sophomore year, 1928, opened with scarcely one missing—a few additions, of course, which strengthened us. Here was the same routine, only enormous improvement—more praise from our teachers and others, too. We were represented in every activity in school—basketball, tennis, Glee Club, literary societies, and Sodalitas. Then in May came our graduation from Junior High. Junior High was sorry to give up such a class, and we were sorry to leave, too.

In September, 1929, we enrolled in Senior High. At first it seemed a bit dignified to us, but now maybe we're the same way. Up here we hold the same record—the talented Juniors. Who didn't see "Diamonds and Hearts" and the "Mock Commencement!" These two plays proved that we had splendid histrionic ability. And then we sponsored the Lyceum, too.

We have been so busy this year, we haven't enjoyed many social functions, but wait until the Junior-Senior banquet!

Some say that students cannot change
What life may offer them;
So we'll write our ambitions here,
And try if plans are vain.
Will Hazel stand before a court
And plead her cases there?
Will George be called an engineer?
And Jo fly through the air?
Will Marjorie keep a cozy home?
And Garred own a store?
Will Jimmy be a preacher sage
And teach men Christian lore?
Will Eugene go upon the stage
To spring his wise-cracks there?
Will Fred go in for politics
Or be some man's chauffeur?
Will Louise write a book perhaps,
To make this old world better?
Will all the Sophs do something great
To make the world their debtor?

The Principal's Diary

SEPTEMBER

- 3—A hundred unpolished presidential possibilities. I wonder how soon they will begin to exhibit signs of approaching greatness.
- 5—Sophisticated Sophomores post drastic Freshmen rules, but artless Freshmen appear competent to cope with the situation.
- 11—Seventh grade gathers a pint of used paper wads from the chapel floor after school.
- 26—Artistic exhibitions on display at county fair.
- 31—Parents receive startling evidence of student application.

OCTOBER

- 9—Embryo pedagogues descend upon classes for observation.
- 10—Twenty-nine trying adolescents detained in detention.
- 17—Hendrick Hall hoodlums prevent English test by blowing fuses.

NOVEMBER

- 8—Literary program. Fon Taylor thinks he is the Cheshire cat, but the grin breaks.
- 15—Troubles large and troubles small!
- 22—Passers-by pelted with snow-balls. Wonder where those children learned their manners!
- 26—More grades.

DECEMBER

- 31—Everybody delighted to return to work.

JANUARY

- 6—Review. Teachers working hard. Students looking on.
- 13—The suspense is all over. Some are happy and some are sad, but everybody tries again.
- 22—Practice teachers begin to practice.
- 27—First practice for "Mrs. Tubbs."

FEBRUARY

- 11—Everybody smiling into the camera.

MARCH

- 7—Wonderful display of histrionic talent displayed in production of "Mrs. Tubbs of Shantytown."

Extracts from a Student's Diary

OCTOBER

- 9—All Freshmen out for a biology hike. We like the laboratory method of teaching. James, in searching for fruits in some hazelnut bushes found a jug containing some white liquid. In his report he added the extra item, "fruit of evil."
- 10—Twenty-nine students in detention hall for chewing gum. Teachers must be jealous because they haven't any.

NOVEMBER

- 7—Mr. Wildman's week in detention. He certainly does like to keep the brunettes. We had hoped he would prefer blondes.

DECEMBER

- 20—Home for Christmas. No detentions for a week, no equations, no declensions.

JANUARY

- 6—Review. Why can't the teachers tell us all they want to ask us and save all this fuss?

FEBRUARY

- 14—Sixth grade gave a chapel program, the best part of which was the unexpected appearance of Miss Litman as Cupid.
- 20—Miss Houston confesses she used to be scared of her Latin teacher. She has nothin' on us.
- 28—James Amick failed to report to detention as requested by Miss Litman, but she followed him to Scott Ave., and led him back. By that time detention was over, so James wandered on to the gym for a game of ball.

MARCH

- 1—During play practice Miss Houston instructed "Clingie" to laugh more like an old maid. When she hesitated, tactless Ruth Trent embarrassed Miss Houston by suggesting that she show her how.
- 3—Miss Litman and Miss Harman are seeking a method of gaining weight.
- 7—Mr. Wildman is still scratching his head. We expect to see him bald most any morning.
- 12—Fire drill. Miss Litman saved her fur coat, but left Joe Bentley asleep under his seat.

COLLEGE BEARS

Front Row—Hinkle, Johnson, Wheeler, Childers, Weddington, (Captain.)

Back Row—Adams, Coach Wildman, Looney. (Jones, Fields and Banks not in picture).

A SPECTATOR SPEAKS

Weddington—a fast little forward. His eye for the old bucket is as good as the best. A shot is never taken by him unless all others are covered and he is open.

Looney—has plenty of weight, but is always there when needed. His specialty is crimps.

Wheeler—the one who says he can't loop those old long ones in, has not seen him play. His all-round work is outstanding.

Childers—Hidad was a little late in getting started, but things changed when he did get right. Hidad plays that old pivot position to perfection.

Fields—this curly headed lad is noted for his consistency. Whether the team is off or on he is always right.

Johnson—plays with a determination to do something.

Adams—a good utility man.

Hinkle—never missed a practice session.

Banks—a little energetic but earnest.

Jones—loves to play.

Coach Wildman—is liked by all.

HIGHLANDER

THE CUBS

JACK CANELLA

A better captain could not be found. Keg can use his noodle in the hottest as well as the easy frays. A mountain would look small to him. Jack is a good guard.

VIRGIL GRAY

He goes into the game to win. Virgil was unable to be in there at all times, but when he was there the difference could easily be seen. He is best in the forward role.

CHESTER SMITH

"Give it to Smith" was the cry when only a goal or two was needed. Chester delighted in making the impossible ones. "Chet" makes an excellent running guard.

LUTHER STURGELL

If some one goes almost up to the basket and gets the ball off the back-board, it's Luther. He's a natural jumper. It is useless to say he is a good center.

BILLY BURKE

He is small but makes up for this handicap with his speed and floor-work. Billy is another one of these long shot kings. He plays most any position.

JOE AMICK

They call him "Stonewall" and a stone wall is what he is when it comes to holding an opposing offence. Joe plays because he likes it—and how he plays!

BILLY HAMBLEY

Billy delights in getting himself all twisted up and then letting one go for the basket. He gets a good many of this kind. He is a fast little forward.

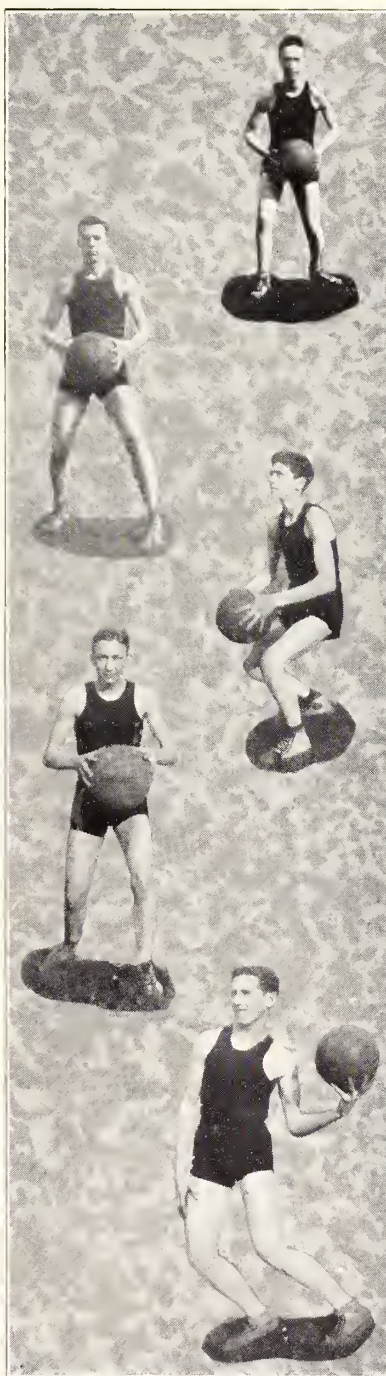

REUBEN ALLEN

Everybody can't get as good as Reuben in as short a time. Reuben played his first basketball this year, and played with steadiness and accuracy.

CLEMONS BRACKETTE

Clemons is another boy who has had little experience. His shots always look good because he shoots them left handed.

THE ATHLETIC REVIEW

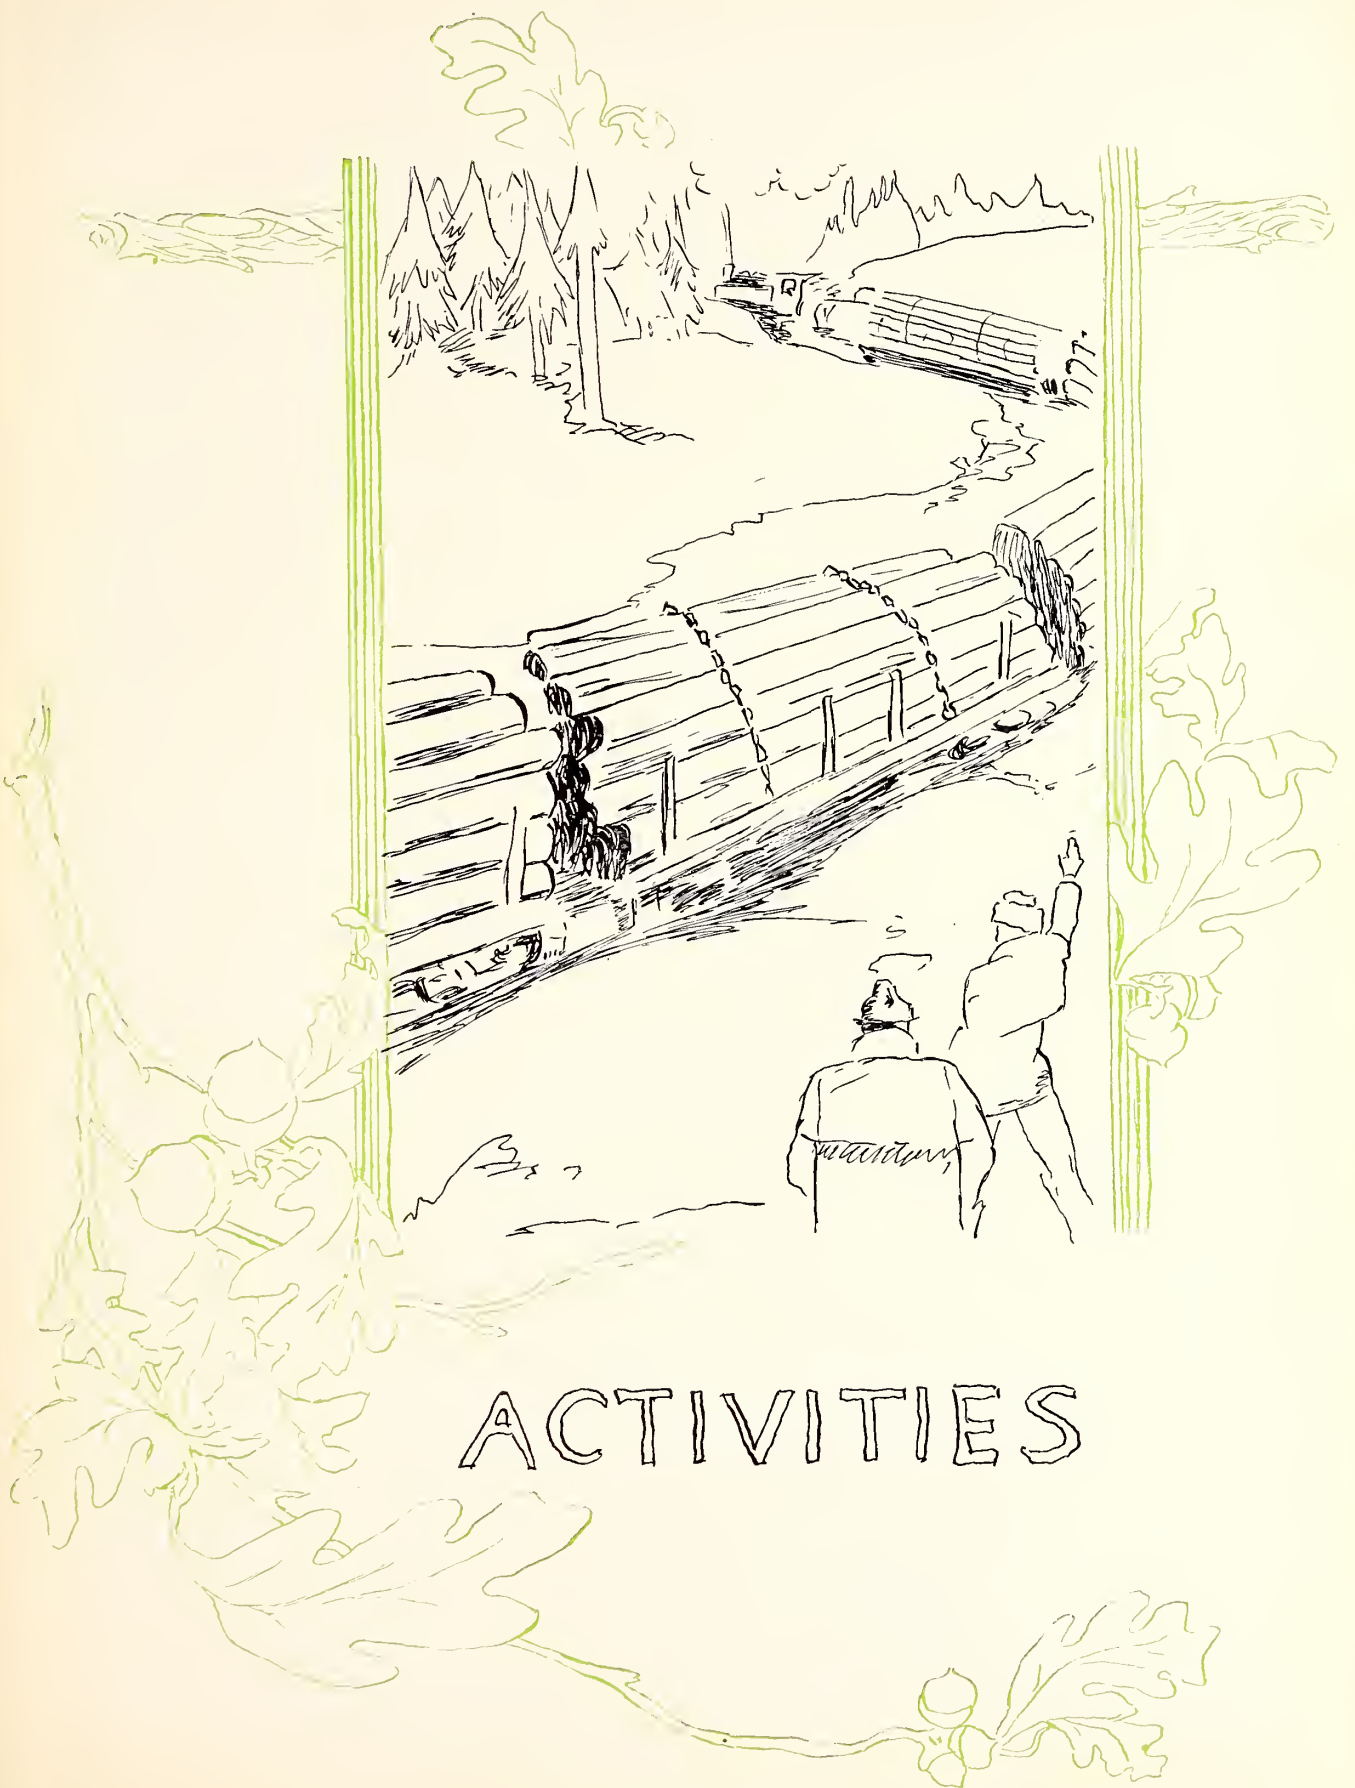

We cannot close our athletic section without a few words of appreciation to those who secure less prominence, and do not come under the photographer's lens, but who have helped to make the past season a success.

The committee of the alumni, Bowles, Walters, Greer and Connolly, who have shouldered the financial and business end of athletics have rendered a service that is much appreciated by the school. Associated with them as representing the student body, has been Hershel Childers.

The pep squad comes in, too, for its share of commendation. "Atmosphere" has a great deal to do with the winning or the losing of a game. The atmosphere of loyalty and support that a rousing cheer gives means much to the man on the floor.

Since baseball is a game of the warmer months, it has not often been possible to give it the publicity it should have. The team of last year appeared too late to "pose" for the camera, but its successes are well worth recording. Who will forget that Williamson game when Lusk hammered out a Texas Leaguer which brought in enough runs to make the count two all. A good season is anticipated for this year. Games are being scheduled with Morris Harvey, Moorehead, Williamson and many inter-scholastic nines of this section.

Tennis held a prominent place in the informal athletics of the preceding year. Hatcher and Sloan, the leading team, went through the season unconquered. In the school tournament, which is sponsored by the Tennis Club, Hatcher easily defeated all opponents to be crowned champion of Pikeville College. Though interest in the sport waned a little last Fall, it has come back in full swing this Spring. The tennis club has been reorganized, the court put in fine shape and is daily crowded with enthusiastic players.

To reap such joy means much hard work, but that it is worth it is the unanimous vote of the Glee Club.

ZETA SIGMA PHI

Zeta Sigma Phi was organized late last semester for the purpose of promoting among College students a cultural atmosphere and stimulating friendship between both of the College classes.

The name of the Club is comprised of three Greek letters taken from the words meaning, "to seek after wisdom and friendship," which gives in a few words the purpose already mentioned.

Zeta Sigma Phi has certain outstanding characteristics. First of all, it is a club for all college students. Its membership is not limited to students of one department alone, but seeks to combine students of all departments for a common purpose. In the second place, this club meets quite often, the officers are elected each semester, and a different program committee is appointed each month, thereby giving each member a chance to manifest his ability.

The programs given by the Zeta Sigma Phi are generally of the literary type. Some of the programs of this year cannot soon be forgotten.

It is planned to make this Club a permanent organization of Pikeville College. It is our hope that such steps may be successfully carried forward, for an organization of this type can be a credit to any school.

SODALITAS

The Cicero and Vergil classes of P. C. A. met at Laughlin Cottage on November 30, 1926, to organize a Latin Club.

The name Sodalitas was given to the Club, and its purpose—as stated in the constitution—is to increase the students' interest in Latin, and to give them a wider knowledge of everything pertaining to Rome and to Roman private life.

Many interesting programs have been given by the Club on such general topics as "Travels and Correspondence of the Romans," "Dress and Ornaments," and "Amusement of the Romans."

After the regular program, at each meeting, a social hour is always spent in Latin games, charades or crossword puzzles. Several plays have been given from time to time by Sodalitas members. In 1928 the Cicero and Vergil classes gave plays that were written especially for those classes.

Sodalitas members have witnessed two Roman weddings, the last marriage occurring in November, 1929, when Joe Stone and Rebekah Amick were the contracting parties! Franklin Day officiated as Pontifex Maximus, and looked very imposing in his pontifical robes!

Latin is called a dead language, but the varied activities of Sodalitas revivify it, and create in the students a lasting enthusiasm.

LES PORTES FLAMBEAUX

Les Portes Flambeaux is the official organization of the French Classes of Pikeville College and Academy. It came into existence this year.

Les Portes Flambeaux is open to all students taking French, and its primary purpose is to learn more about the French people and their language. By means of its varied programs it provides for social and educational growth as well as wholesome recreation.

The meetings of the Club are held in the club room of the Administration building. These meetings are conducted in a French way and the official language is French. Refreshments, also of the French type, are served at all of the meetings.

This club has had remarkable success during the past year. Miss Owens, French Teacher, is the club advisor.

The following is a letter received by one of the club members from a student in France.

Cher ami,

Je vous ecrire ma premiere lettre tout entiere en franais. J'ai deja fait sept ans d'Anglais mais je ne suis pas tout de meme tres fort.

Je suis ne dans les baisses du Massif Central, pays qui ressemble en petot, a ce que l'on m' a dit aux plateau du Colorado Americaine.

J'ai dix huit ans et demi, j'aime beaucoup la langue Anglaise (on Americaine, comme vous voudrez) Aussi je corresponds deja depuis un an avec une jeune Americaine.

Comme sports j'aime beaucoup le rugby, le canotage, et la danse.

Je serai tres hereux d'echanger, de loin, mes impressions avec un jeune homme Americaine.

Quelle est votre opinion generale sur nous franais? Il parait que vous nous prenez pour des reveurs, des coueurs (apres les femmes, bien entendre.)

Quant a vous autres Americaines, l' opinion publique franaise vous considere surtout comme des "business men."

I make a lang story short. I take it, und denn ist venn de war shtart, und he shoost about take me. Say die Lehrerin, Fräulein Spilman, every day: Meine lieben Kinder, Sie müssen mehr studieren! Ach, but dere vas verbs und dere vas nouns und dere vas adyektifs! Und dot vas nicht alles, denn vir haben lots ob oder tings to do.

Vun day, venn die sun bright vas, say die Lehrerin, Vill ve a Sherman Klub haben? So ve alle say ia, denn alles vas ve know vas noting, und ve tink dot venn ve ein Klub haben, haben wir nothing to do, nicht wahr?

Und ach Himmel! Vat lots ob fun ve hab! Sumtimes dere ist a shpeaker vat talks about Shermany und ve lissen like as ve really liked it. Sumtimes ve do.

Oft ve play all kinds ob games about vat Shermany ist like, or maybe ve tink dot dey like in Shermany to play. Und wir singen songs. Und denn wir essen—Wieners and Pretzels und Sauerkraut! Ach, das ist gut, sehr gut! Und ve hab so gut a time—so gut dass ve always vant de day ob de meetings to komm' again back.

Venn yu komm' to Pikeville, und i hoffe dot yu vill komm' soon, yu vill willkommen be, but venn yu komm' schoost don't kick mein Hund around.

THE NORMAL CLUB

The Normal Club was organized in December, 1929, by the prospective teachers of the Pikeville College Academy Normal. The purpose of this organization is to give the students training in public speaking, debating and organizing clubs. The Club meets each second Tuesday in the month. The programs have been both entertaining and educational. Many debates have been very successfully given. The singing accompanied by piano or ukelele has been enjoyed by all. Readings and talks such as "That Old Sweetheart of Mine" and "Opportunity" have proved popular. The hope is that the training derived from the Club will be carried into the schools taught by its members the coming year; and that future members will get from it inspiration equal to that which has been received this year.

A BIT OF NONSENSE

Mr. Johnson—You'd better watch your step in my class room, young man.

Golden Rowe—Why, is the flooring loose, sir?

Luther Sturgell—We've just been talking over our plans for a Spring picnic.

Bertha Biliter—Oh, how nice! I know where there's the loveliest spring!

Clarica Williams—I've gotta half mind to get married when school's out.

The above homogeneous handful of hilarious harmony hounds have hit their horns hot and heavy a hard hour every Monday or so for some time. In fact, they worked so hard one evening, and played so late, that the night watchman complained that he couldn't get any sleep; so forever after their practices have been limited to five hours.

But, all joking aside, the orchestra is going to surprise everybody some day with a chapel program, if nothing more elaborate. Maybe that'll be old news by the time this page appears. We hope so!

"Mrs. Kendrick's Room" is more than an "institution" in the memories of scores of children and young people of Pikeville. And still, with the ardent love of childhood, the "primary" folks flock to "Mrs. Kendrick" with their joys and sorrows, their secrets, and their biggest pieces of news.

The fine training given here has laid the foundation for the higher education of many of the graduates of P. C. A., and for many years this room truly has been the foundation of the College.

Since the work of the grades has been removed from the curriculum, the grades taught here are no longer an integral part of the school. Yet, as a private enterprise under the efficient direction of Mrs. Kendrick, it still furnishes the College with a needed place for observation and practice teaching, and continues to contribute its quota of students to the academy and college departments.

H. A. C.

The H. A. C. is one of our very important clubs, organized, sponsored, and maintained by the boys of Wickman Hall. This club has been very active and effective for the past three years, having had its origin in Hendrick Hall in nineteen hundred and twenty-seven.

The primary purpose of the H. A. C. is to aid the matron in her effort to establish and keep order in the Hall, and on the school campus.

This club has a constitution planned and enforced by the boys of the Wickham Hall. In this constitution are embedded several laws relative to school conduct. The constitution prescribes various punishments, from which a suitable choice is made, for the least trivial to the most serious violation.

H. A. C. has a model court, involving all the principles of modern court procedure. It manifests its purpose and ability in regular weekly meetings and may in some cases have extra sessions.

One charged with misdemeanor is brought before the H. A. C. and given a trial in a systematic court style, cleared or convicted according to the evidence.

Growth of the student body, buildings and modernizing in general, made it necessary in the spring semester of nineteen thirty to reorganize; that is, to make new laws and amendments, and to render certain clauses null, according to provisions in the club's constitution. However, there is still an orderly court system.

Each semester a special meeting is held for the purpose of electing new officers, the officers being elected by popular vote. After the election the officers take oath of office and go on duty at the next regular meeting.

The H. A. C. has grown immensely in the past year, and has the co-operation of all the boys in Wickham Hall, together with the advice and support of the matron.

WICKHAM CAFETERIA

Miss Woodward ByarsPresiding Genius

The Cafeteria may not be an "Activity" in the acceptance of the term as it has been used in these pages, but certainly it is the most active place in Pikeville College three times each day. It first made its entrance into the life of the school in September, 1929. It was with some difficulty and slowness that the student body and faculty adjusted themselves to the "bread-line" and the trying ordeal of choosing the bill of fare. But after a few try-outs, routine became established, and people, food, and dishes moved with astonishing rapidity and dexterity.

The Cafeteria is modern in every detail. It has a seating capacity of two hundred seventy-five, and the average number served at each meal is about one hundred thirty-five. Mrs. Chase and the members of the H. A. C. co-operate in maintaining order and efficiency in the line and at the tables.

The students have few complaints, but once in a while the "blues" arrive. Accidents will happen. The sliding-rail often makes some unfortunate student the victim of fate. Tray and victuals are deposited on the floor with a bang. Such students are directed to the kitchen, soon to reappear with broom, mop and dustpan. The appetites of some of the students are dampened when the ticket punchers overcharge. But despite these trivial ups and downs, the students have accepted Wickham Cafeteria as a permanent part of Pikeville College and are ever ready with three cheers.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As we, the Annual Staff, close our work on the Highlander, we realize very fully that our success depends largely on the co-operation of others. We wish to take this opportunity to acknowledge the service that has been given.

To the student body and faculty we wish to express our appreciation of your support. We thank you for kodaks, films, pictures, typewriters—all your help. You have been loyal in subscribing. The organizations have been cordial and prompt in the payment of their assessments. All you have done is greatly appreciated.

We could not exist if it were not for our advertisers. We realize that we are troublesome, and may in some cases be a burden, but we sincerely hope that each student and alumnus will recognize your value to us. We will boost your business.

To the alumni go the Staff's cordial thanks for your assistance. Some of you are far away. Some are near enough to be in touch with our everyday affairs. We have tried to prove that we are interested in you. We are glad to feel that you are interested in us. It is our hope that the information you have found herein about your old classmates and school chums will outweigh the trouble we have caused you.

We thank the photographers for their co-operation. We regretted that Mr. J. I. Saad was unable to finish his contract with us. We thank his successors for carrying on.

Jahn and Ollier, our engravers, have been invaluable with their advice. They have cheerfully helped us out of our many dilemmas. It is through their co-operation with our art editor, Miss Ruth Locke, that the distinctive art work of our book has been possible this year.

And last, but not least, we are indebted to the Benton Review Shop, from whose presses comes the finished product which we hereby present to our readers. Theirs is a large share in making this what we hope is "the best Highlander yet."
